

Over the last two months, our lives have changed in lots of different ways. Using the three house below, think about which changes you like, you don't like and what changes you are worried about.

My Three Houses

Feelings Thermometer

Here is a feelings thermometer. We can use it to think about how we feel about different situations in our lives. Sometimes, you might feel more than one emotion about the same situation.

Think about each of the different situations below.

Use the feelings thermometer to record how you are feeling.

Can you explain what is making you feel that way?

- 1) Waking up on Christmas morning.
- 2) Our last day of school in March.
- 3) Coming back to school in September.
- 4) Seeing your friends again on the playground.
- 5) Hearing stories about Covid-19 on the news.

Rules

Since the beginning of lockdown, there have been many new rules put into place to keep us safe.

In school, we are following the new rules of:

- Stay 2m apart
- Washing our hands before we enter our classroom, and when we leave it to go onto the playground
- Walk around school following the arrows
- Line up on our yellow spots in the morning

What new rules have you been following?

Why do you think these rules are important?

Challenge

Your challenge is tweet your class teacher a video of you following a rule that helps to keep you safe.

Poetry Task

A couple of weeks ago, one of our fantastic Year 6 pupils wrote a poem about life in lockdown. That amazing poem has inspired this writing task. One of our school values that we have all needed to show during this difficult time has been resilience.

Can you write an acrostic poem about your time away from school using the word resilience?
